

Who is FIPP

At the Family, Infant and Preschool Program (FIPP), every family gets a team! We know that children learn best from the important people in their lives and during their everyday activities. That is why families are at the center of everything we do. Our team of experts in child development will work with you to make sure that your child meets the goals that are important to you and your family. We come to you because therapy doesn't have to happen in a clinic or through recommended exercises. You can do everything to support your child's learning and development as part of your everyday routines and FIPP can show you how.

Why choose FIPP?

FIPP has been serving families in western North Carolina since 1972, offering support to families and children in Alexander, Burke, Caldwell, Catawba, and McDowell counties. We are an international research and training institute and a community-based program for children (birth to five years), and their families. Our team supports children's learning and development in their homes and communities and supports families with their priorities. For professionals interested in evidence-based practices in early childhood intervention, FIPP offers professional development opportunities. We're excited to share more about our work and support you!

Who do we serve?

FIPP provides direct support to children birth to five years of age and their families in Alexander, Burke, Caldwell, Catawba, and McDowell counties in western North Carolina.

Is FIPP a preschool?

No, we can support your infant, toddler or preschool-age child in your home, community, or early childhood classroom.

Who is on the team?

Our team members have degrees in early childhood education, early childhood special education, nutrition, nursing, occupational therapy, physical therapy, and speech-language pathology.

Do you offer professional development?

Yes! We offer a variety of learning opportunities for professionals interested in learning about evidence-based early intervention and family support practices. See our professional development page for more information.

If your child needs assistance, FIPP can help.